AH SIN

"Rises to Explain, With a Smile that is Child-Like and Bland"

WHAT HE KNOWS ABOUT THE CLOTHING BUSINESS,

AFTER ONE YEAR'S EXPERIENCE, MORE OR LESS.

HE LOOKS AROUND for a place where he thinks Prices are high, and then "prices" AND IT MUST BE CONFESSED THAT (when "selling") considerably since he struck this locality.

HIS "SYSTEM" IN FIVE CHAPTERS, WITH NOTES.

"We do not want for capital." (How kind if he would lend us a quarter till we sell our dog.)

"We often take the entire production of two or three mills at once." (Customers who have visited a store say that the proprietor is "Gin Mill," but we insinuate nothing of the kind.)

"We manufacture all our own clothing," for "they it where we can get it cheapest," see former Ad.)

"We make such immense quantities at a time that we cannot dispose of it at wholesale." (And then Ah Sin "takes a hand" to sell it off into the retail trade.)

A Card from the Sleeve of Ah Sin.

"We sell 10 per cent. to the manufacturing prices." (Latest Advertisement.)

"We propose to sell without any profit from now till March 1st, 1876." (First proclamation.)

"We don't want for the cash." (Latest.) "We want money, and that's the whole story." (Fleat.)

A Regular "Break-Down" in the English Language

LINDLAY MURRAY PUT TO ROUT.

WE WILL GIVE ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS

To any institution, charitable or uncharitable, which may be designated by the Mayor, or any other man, if another advertisement can be found in the Whig containing so many grammatical mistakes as this last of Ah Sin's.

So Put Up, Shut Up, or Use Better Grammar.

BUT ENOUGH OF THIS CHINESE WARFARE.

If you want poor goods at nominally low prices, go to Wm. St. Jarre, formerly, Chinaman's Tea Store, (now the Hatless Chinese Clothing House) and buy a warm thing to wear.

AT HOME AGAIN.

FRANKLIN HOUSE,

BANGOR, ME.

The undersigned, after a vacation of [illegible] years, finds himself once more at the old post of duty in the FRANKLIN HOUSE, which he established on the thirty years ago, and which has grown up under his constant attention and care to its present proportions and high reputation. The house is refitted and refurnished, with many additional conveniences for the discharge of the duties of a landlord, he assumes the direction of affairs over its business House which is now one of the best appointed Hotels in Maine.

The location of the Franklin House is exceedingly pleasant and healthy. It is abundantly supplied with all modern conveniences and commands a view of the Post Office, and only a few minutes' walk from the business streets. MR. QUINCY, who has so long been connected with the establishment, will continue to fill the position of Clerk.

My thousands of old friends, whom I have known and entertained for the past thirty five years, are cordially invited to visit the FRANKLIN HOUSE, and judge whether the stamp of the landlord's hand is not as warm and cordial as it was before the frosts of many winters had begun to touch his locks. Verily "Bunker's himself again."

A MONTH'S WORK.

We are sure that those of our citizens who have been in the habit of reading the Democratic papers, must have noticed in times past, and especially a year ago, the vigorous denunciations which were hurled at the Republican Congress for lack of industry and for leaving the public business for which the people pay it to go home "just setting during the holidays." We distinctly remember seeing careful and indignant computations of just how much salary per diem was taken from the public treasury by Congressmen who voted themselves a vacation when the interests of the country were languishing for attention," and the brief holiday recess was pointed at as an example of Republican shirking. Thinking of these protests we have been led to consider the industry displayed by the Democratic House during the present session, and we present the result of our investigation.

The Congressional Record shows that the House of Representatives assembled on the 6th of December and held a session of 4 hours and 50 minutes in electing a Speaker and attempting to reopen the Louisiana wrangle; on the 7th the House devoted 4 hours and a half to drawing seats and the subsequent reading of the President's Message, few of the members remaining to listen to it, and then adjourned to the 10th when just 32 minutes were devoted to public business and the overworked statesmen adjourned for four days more. On the 14th a session of 2 hours and 10 minutes was held, the principal achievement of the majority being the record of their opinion that disabled Union soldiers are not entitled to any preference in subordinate appointments, on the 15th they occupied 3 hours and 20 minutes jokingly in dodging Mr. Hale's specie payment declaration and then adjourned for three days; on the 17th the roll-calls on the anti-subsidy and anti-third term resolutions occupied the greater part of the 5 hours and 15 minutes and an adjournment was had until the 20th when one hour was devoted to reading the list of committees, and the session then went over for the holidays to January 5th.

We thus have the record of a whole month's work by the new Democratic House, and find that during the month it has been in session or just seven days with sittings ranging from four hours and fifty minutes to thirty-two minutes, or in other words, that from Dec 6th to January 5th, our twenty tripus legislators will have been in session precisely 19 hours and 37 minutes! If the Democratic majority continues to labor for Reform in this exhaustive manner, what wonder if the new Speaker breaks down under the heavy strain

A STRIKING CONTRAST.

[From the N. Y. Herald, 13th.]

The appointment of Mr. Morrison as chairman of Ways and Means is, at least, a surprise. It may be a brilliant feat of wisdom, but the brilliancy and the wisdom are inscrutable to common eyes. If Mr. Morrison were one of the new members who have never served in Congress before, the public could more easily honor the check which Speaker Kerr has drawn on Tweedledum. It might, then, be assumed that Mr. Morrison is an aspirant who has failed to make a mark for lack of opportunities. But it so happens that the new Chairman of Ways and Means has already served four years in Congress and has been ranked with the common place members. He first came into the House in 1863 as a member of the Thirty-eighth Congress at the same time with Mr. Blaine. As both of these gentlemen were new members it is not discreditable to either that they were assigned to low places on an unimportant committee. It so happened that they were put on the same committee, and near the end of it Mr. Morrison, being from an adjoining State, was probably known to Speaker Colfax, while Mr. Blaine was not, for Morrison stood as the sixth and Blaine as the seventh upon the Committee on Militia. Mr. Blaine rose rapidly into high consideration in that Congress, participating largely in the debates and exercising a decided influence. But Mr. Morrison was a sleeper. During the first session he offered one or two unimportant resolutions, but took part in no debate. In the next session, while Mr. Blaine was continued to rise in the estimation of the House by frequent displays of ability, Mr. Morrison never rose from his seat to address the Chair but once, and then on a point which was ridiculous. On an occasion when many members were called to decorum and fined for absence Mr. Morrison rose to a question of privilege, saying that he had tendered the amount of his fine to the Sergeant-at-Arms in bank notes, and that he had refused to accept it because bank notes were not a legal tender. This piece of small buffoonery is Mr. Morrison's only record during the whole session of 1864-65. He was then left out of Congress by the constituents until the session of 1873-4, when Speaker Blaine showed his appreciation of Mr. Morrison's talents by assigning him the tenth place upon the Committee on War Claims. Mr Blaine is reputed to be a good judge of character and capacity, and as he served on the same committee with Mr. Morrison in the Thirty-eighth Congress he had excellent opportunities to gauge his abilities. Mr. Morrison's footing on the floor in the last Congress was on a par with his insignificance on one of the minor committees. It is therefore a matter of wonder that he has so unexpectedly risen to the leadership of the House, or rather to a position to which that honor has been heretofore attached. Will the House accept as its leader a man who has never yet been able to command its attention? If he has any qualifications for the Chairmanship of Ways and Means the public does not know how he has acquired them. He has never served on that committee nor any committee charged with the examination of similar subjects. This appointment is, as yet, an unsolved riddle, the public having no other evidence of his abilities than the encomiums of people who have discovered that he is a profound financier within the last three days.

A Mr. Morrow of Bangor, has received the appointment of Assistant Doorkeeper in the House.—Portland Argus.

Mr. Morrow is not aware of the fact, but has an impression that an ex-rebel from Texas got that position. The Argus should keep better posted on New England political interests.

The fact, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune, that about the same population that gets four chairmanships in the North and East get 23 in the South, puts a great many teeth on edge among the Northern Democracy.

THE HOUSE COMMITTEES MUDDLE.

[Cor. N. Y. Tribune.]

The excitement over the appointment of the Committees and disappointments of the members continues quite unabated among those who remain in the city. An analysis of the list tends rather to increase than to abate discontent. It is found that out of 33 working committees of the House, which, in their full cycle, embrace the entire business of the country, the Southern or late Slave States have 22 of their chairmanships, embracing such important committees as those on Elections, Judiciary, Commerce, Pacific Railroad, Post Office, Naval Affairs, Railways and Canals, Foreign Affairs, Claims, Revision of the Laws, Education and Labor, District of Columbia, Patents, and many others. New England, with ten Democratic members, does not receive a chairmanship of any kind whatever, big or little. New York receives two—those of the Banking and Civil Service Committees. New Jersey receives nothing. Pennsylvania receives those of Appropriations and Invalid Pensions, and yet New England and the three States just named have well high as large a population as the 11 late Slave States, with a far larger proportion of old and experienced Democratic members. The fact that about the same population that gets four chairmanships in the North and East get 23 in the South, puts a great many teeth on edge among the Northern Democracy, and it is about as bad for the West and North-West, where only seven chairmanships in all are given to Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Nevada, California and Oregon. Indeed, the last named eight States do not have a single chairmanship, over 5,000,000 of people not being represented at the head of any committee. The Southern States have about one-third of the population of the whole country to-day, and they get two-thirds of the chairmanships, and it is very hard to make Northern and Western Democrats contented with such a dispensation. Gen. Banks, elected by the Democratic party as an Independent, is grossly slighted. He was for several years Chairman of Foreign Affairs, and in the second session of the XLIId Congress, after he had vigorously supported Mr. Greeley, a Republican House, by vote, continued him in the chairmanship. Now he is not only deposed from his chairmanship, but is subordinated on the Committee to Charles James Faulkner of West Virginia, of whom nothing more need be said in this connection. Mr. Clitherdon, of New York, another Independent who is most conspicuously snubbed. Indeed, the Independent members, whose course aided the Democracy, the less kindly treated by that party than they have been by the Republicans whom they hurt. It is no exaggeration to say that the discontent with the committee assignments is widespread, general, and bitter among a large class of Northern Democrats. Among Republicans there is very little feeling, as they consider themselves out of it, with no rights which Democrats are disposed to respect. In general, however, leading Republicans have been fairly treated, though it is thought that Mr. Kasson has good cause for complaint in not being retained on the Ways and Means or the Appropriations Committee, on both of which he has had many years experience.

POLITICAL AND PERSONAL.

The New York Evening Post, discussing the organization of the House, wants to know who is going to lead the leaders.

Referring to Alex. H. Stephens, Chairman of the Committee on Weights and Measures, the Washington Republican says. "We have no fear of the old gentleman's weight, but his pleasure has not always proved to be harmless in the past."

The Cincinnati Enquirer, the leading Democratic organ in Ohio, calls Mr. Morrison, the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, "a brawling, empty headed, unknown Dogo politician of Waterloo, Illinois," and says that Speaker Kerr, "the ablest scholar in power in the United States, condemns his high career by using his power of patronage to pay personal debts."

Major Pangborn of New Jersey, well known politically, has been interviewed on the New York Herald's exposure of the "O. A. R." of which order he was said to be a member. He pronounced the revelations "a grain of truth and a bushel of falsehood," and he adds: "The organization has nothing whatever to do with the third term agitation. I was in Washington all last week and saw Mr. Blaine, who says that the entire matter is all Greek to him."

Mr. Cowles of the Cleveland (Ohio) Leader was interviewed in Washington recently concerning the secret society referred to in the James Y. Foster letter to Mr. Blaine. He is reported as admitting the existence of such a society, and his own connection with it. He says, however, that neither the President, Mr. Blaine, nor any others of the prominent public men connected with it. He says the document published in the New York Herald, as the constitution of the society, belonged to a similar organization, now defunct, and is not the constitution of the present society.

The official vote of the election in Oregon last June to fill the Congressional vacancy is as follows: Warren (Rep.), 9100; Lane (Dem.), 9373; Whitney (Ind.), 837; Dimick (Temp.), 345. This gave Lane the State by 267 plurality.

It is the impression, at Washington that the chief of the House Committees goes to destroy Tilden's chance for the Presidential nomination and to give the preference to a Western man, probably Hendricks.

A Washington special now says that the removals of Union soldiers to make place for Confederates has been checked, temporarily at least, about the House by the quiet protests of the more moderate Democrats, who have become convinced from the expressions upon such changes throughout the North, that it is not yet quite ready to concede to the Confederate claims.

"Morrison, Morrison—leader of the Democracy in the House!" exclaimed a tree lime who voted for Andrew Jackson, "never heard of Morrison before. Wonder if he is any relation to Morrison who used to make pills for us Democrats forty years ago?"

General Banks, who was continued by the Republicans a chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs even after his support of Mr. Greeley, must about this time have some curious ideas respecting Democratic gumption.

A conspicuous example of the utter recklessness with which accusations are set afloat by certain papers, is afforded by the N. Y. Herald's pretended revelations concerning a terrible anti-Catholic secret order. In an editorial of its last issue it pretends to treat the matter seriously saying: "But when we see that President Grant, Postmaster General Jewell and the Cabinet, and Mr. Blaine, the leader of the Republican party in the House, have taken full oath of allegiance to this Order—for this information this far stands uncontradicted—then it assumes even a new importance." And on another page of the same paper it publishes the statement of the President of the Society referred to, who says it is not anti-Catholic and further declares:

"I will say this upon my own responsibility and from my personal knowledge as an officer of the Order, that neither President Grant, Speaker Blaine nor Mr. Jewell are members of the Order, nor are there any members of the Cabinet of the United States connected with our society."

Some people must like the Herald's humbugs or it would not continue to invent them.

THE STATE ATTORNEY-GENERALSHIP.

[From the Ellsworth American.]

Prominent among the names mentioned in connection with the office, is that of Hon. L. A. Emery of this city. Without in any manner urging upon the members of the Legislature, the propriety of electing this gentleman, we may yet be allowed to state the fact, and also say, that the sentiment of the people of this country and their representatives is strongly in his favor. Knowing him as they do, they will earnestly urge his election, both on the ground of fitness and of its being a proper recognition of this section of the State, East of the Penobscot.

Ambrose Whitney Esq., of Bucksport, who has been prominently mentioned in connection with the Speakership, will doubtless being a candidate, for the reason, among others, that he desires that this County should be able to more freely and efficiently urge the nomination of Mr. Emery for Attorney-General. Mr. White was a very efficient and popular member of the last House, and if elected, would have made an acceptable Speaker. His generous action will undoubtedly be appreciated by Mr. Emery's friends.

The appointments announced of another ex-Congressman, from Kentucky, under the Clerk of the House. This time it is John B. Rice, and he is made Librarian of the House in place of John James Platt. This makes the fourth ex-Congressman from Kentucky appointed to position under the House.

Mr. McPherson during the twelve years he was Clerk of the House disbursed over six millions of dollars. When he had a final settlement a few days ago the Treasury accounts showed one dollar and seventy-six cents to his credit more than was shown by his own accounts.

DENTAL CARD.

DR. J. F. BABCOCK desires to say to that class of sufferers who are afflicted with aching teeth, that in almost every instance, the pain can be instantly relieved, and that with from three to five further sittings the teeth may be filled and permanently restored to health. In support of his assertion Dr. B. would say that in no single instance has he ever failed to save every aching tooth which he has attempted to save, and during the past four years he has thus saved about six hundred and thirty of them! However, defective teeth should never be neglected until they ache, but upon the first appearance of decay they should at once be properly and so permanently filled with gold as materials will admit, as filling with gold being pre-eminently the best. Since 1871, Dr. Babcock has placed in such teeth more than three thousand gold fillings, and he will with much pride that he makes the statement that, to the best of his knowledge, not fifteen fillings only out of that large number have proved defective. Dr. Babcock is fully aware that there are some who will affect to consider his assertions as mere boasting, but he cannot consider truthful statements of facts to be as such in the slightest degree. Those who advertise what they do not mean to perform, and who claim to accomplish impossibilities are surely so because, but those who advertise simply what they can and what they will do, and then perform the contract both in letter and in spirit, are so regarded most unjustly. Dr. Babcock makes a specialty of all operations in dentistry, and a principal feature in his practice is his desire to use means to avoid all unnecessary pain, which in the very large majority of operations is unnecessarily inflicted.
